Florida’s Domestic Security Strategic Goals

PREPARE for terrorism response missions.

PREVENT preempt and deter acts of terrorism.

PROTECT Florida’s citizens, visitors, and critical infrastructure.

RESPOND in an immediate, effective, and coordinated manner, focused on the victims of an attack.

RECOVER quickly and restore our way of life following a terrorist act.

(DEM, Florida’s State Administrative Agency, has primary responsibility for this strategic goal)
Mandates responsibility for coordinating responses to acts of terrorism and other matters related to the domestic security of Florida to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, but recognizes the importance of many public and private multi-disciplinary partners in accomplishing the domestic security mission.

The enemy is unconventional and hard to recognize
The information is scattered ...
We must collect, access, and analyze the scattered pieces to assemble the big picture—and we have done this in many areas.
Scattered Data Pieces

The scattered data is found within LE Records Management Systems which is accessible on an individual basis or by members of a specific agency – not having a way to share this data results in missing data from a regional, statewide and national perspective.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, FDLE has been deeply engaged in the coordination of domestic security issues and responses in our state as well as working to foster a positive and functional relationship with federal offices responsible for safeguarding our nation. While terrorism remains a critical concern of the federal government, September 11 made it painfully obvious that state and local governments also had a major role in helping to prevent domestic terrorism and in responding to a terror attack should it occur.

Under the leadership of former Governor Jeb Bush and the Florida Legislature, Florida embraced this new responsibility. Municipal, county, and state agencies came together to identify Florida’s terror-related vulnerabilities, and devise a comprehensive, integrated strategy and plan for addressing them. Using both state and federal funds, Florida began by immediately developing, prioritizing, and funding projects to implement the statewide, multidisciplinary plan.

The plan, Florida’s Domestic Security Strategy, remains a working document that is revisited and re-prioritized each year based on current conditions, new federal guidance, and available funding. To support our strategy, Florida also built an inclusive structure, designed to encourage and facilitate multi-jurisdictional and multidisciplinary participation at all levels of government.
